Cash adds up so Gaa doesn't add on

The machinery that has been in action on the annexation of the Gaa property to the village of Antioch, was brought to an abrupt halt by the owner of the property, Ronald Gaa himself.

Gaa attributes the reason for his annexation bid cancellation at this time, to the $34,000 cost of hooking up to the sewer.

The high cost of the sewer hook-up would be brought about because of the necessity of tunneling beneath Rte 83 and the Soo Line Railroad tracks.

Mayor Michael Haley showed obvious disappointment when he spoke of the loss of the Gaa property and its possible tax revenues.

Gaa presently operates a bulk gasoline storage facility on the 1.3 acre sight just north of the village on Rte. 83.

Since Gaa intends to add a self-service gas station, car rental and wash to his present operation, the board was most anxious for the annexation, not only to help the lagging tax revenue dollar total but also to bring back to the village some of the dollars that were taken away by a very successful self service station in the same area, just on the Wisconsin side of the border.

Reportedly three gas stations in the village had been put out of business by the Wisconsin station, accounting for some of the loss in the village's tax intake.

Gaa, who has not crossed off annexation completely, says that if and when the village spreads northward and he is able to hook-up to the sewers from the other side of his property at less cost, he would be more than willing to request annexation again.

A woman's place

Woman behind the Antioch man They stand behind each other

by GLORIA DAVIS

She's bubbly, she's straight-forward, she's talkative and this pretty Irish colleen looks like she came straight from the shores of Erin.

She's Sandy Seigmeier, wife of Jack Seigmeier, one of Antioch's favorite merchants, owner of the Four Squires Clothing Store.

For this profile, I'm going to expand the premise of the series. The Woman Behind the Antioch Man, since Sandy claims that she and Jack are the couple behind each other.

Sandy was born, raised and educated in Antioch, and her first and last job was and is with the Four Squires clothing store on Lake St. in downtown Antioch.

She started to learn the retail clothing business the same year that Jack and Four Squires came to town, in 1972 and has worked in this and Four Squires stores in other areas, including the one located in DeKalb during her short college sojourn at Northern Illinois University.

Although Sandy and Jack, who were just married last October might still be considered newlyweds, because of their long standing, time consuming business relationship, they have probably spent more time together than many who are considered old married couples.

As Sandy says, they are a typical "today" couple: both busy in the work-a-day world; both spending many weekends with Jack's daughter by a previous marriage; both community involved and both sharing the work load at home as well as at the shop.

"The only thing missing is a condominium," Sandy laughs.

She credits what she terms a "fantastic" relationship to complete communication with each other.

"Without communication," she says, "you can't possibly know where the other person is coming from."

The way that they often successfully tackle their personal problems with the same businesslike attitude that they employ when dealing with problems at the store, is more testimony to the success of their dual partnership.

What do these very involved people do for fun? Besides the fact that both of them love the business they purchased last January and even enjoy the long hours they have to put in to make it the success that it is, they share Jack's passion for boating.

While Jack is busy in the Lions and the Rotary Club, Sandy is an active member of Antioch's Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Cost of the class is $1 per person to cover the cost of materials.

Each session is limited to twenty people and pre-registration is required.

The five hour course is completed in one evening, from 6-11 p.m. in the hospital conference room. Interested individuals should call 688-3159 to register.

CPR has been credited with saving many lives across the country but should not be attempted by those without formal training. It involves mouth-to-mouth ventilation and external heart compression.

Physicians say when a person stops breathing or the heart stops due to an attack, electrical shock or drowning, treatment must begin within minutes or the individual is not likely to live.

The more people who know CPR the better your chances of survival should something happen to you, or a member of your family.

The course at Victory Memorial is being taught by Mary Ellyn Spratz, R.N., CCRN, director of the EMS MIC paramedic, training program and Raeann Koenig, R.N., EMS staff nurse.

Sept. 20 is opening date for PM&L's 'Our Town'

Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "Our Town," will open this Saturday night, Sept. 20, at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main St. in Antioch.

Following evening presentations will take place on Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 26 and 27, and Oct. 3 and 4.

There will also be a matinee on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28.

Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. for the evening performances and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

"Our Town" celebrates, among other things, the beginning of the 20th season for PM&L, Antioch's community theater group.

A simple and faithful chronicle of American small-town life in the years before World War I, the play has earned its place as a well-established classic of this country's theater.

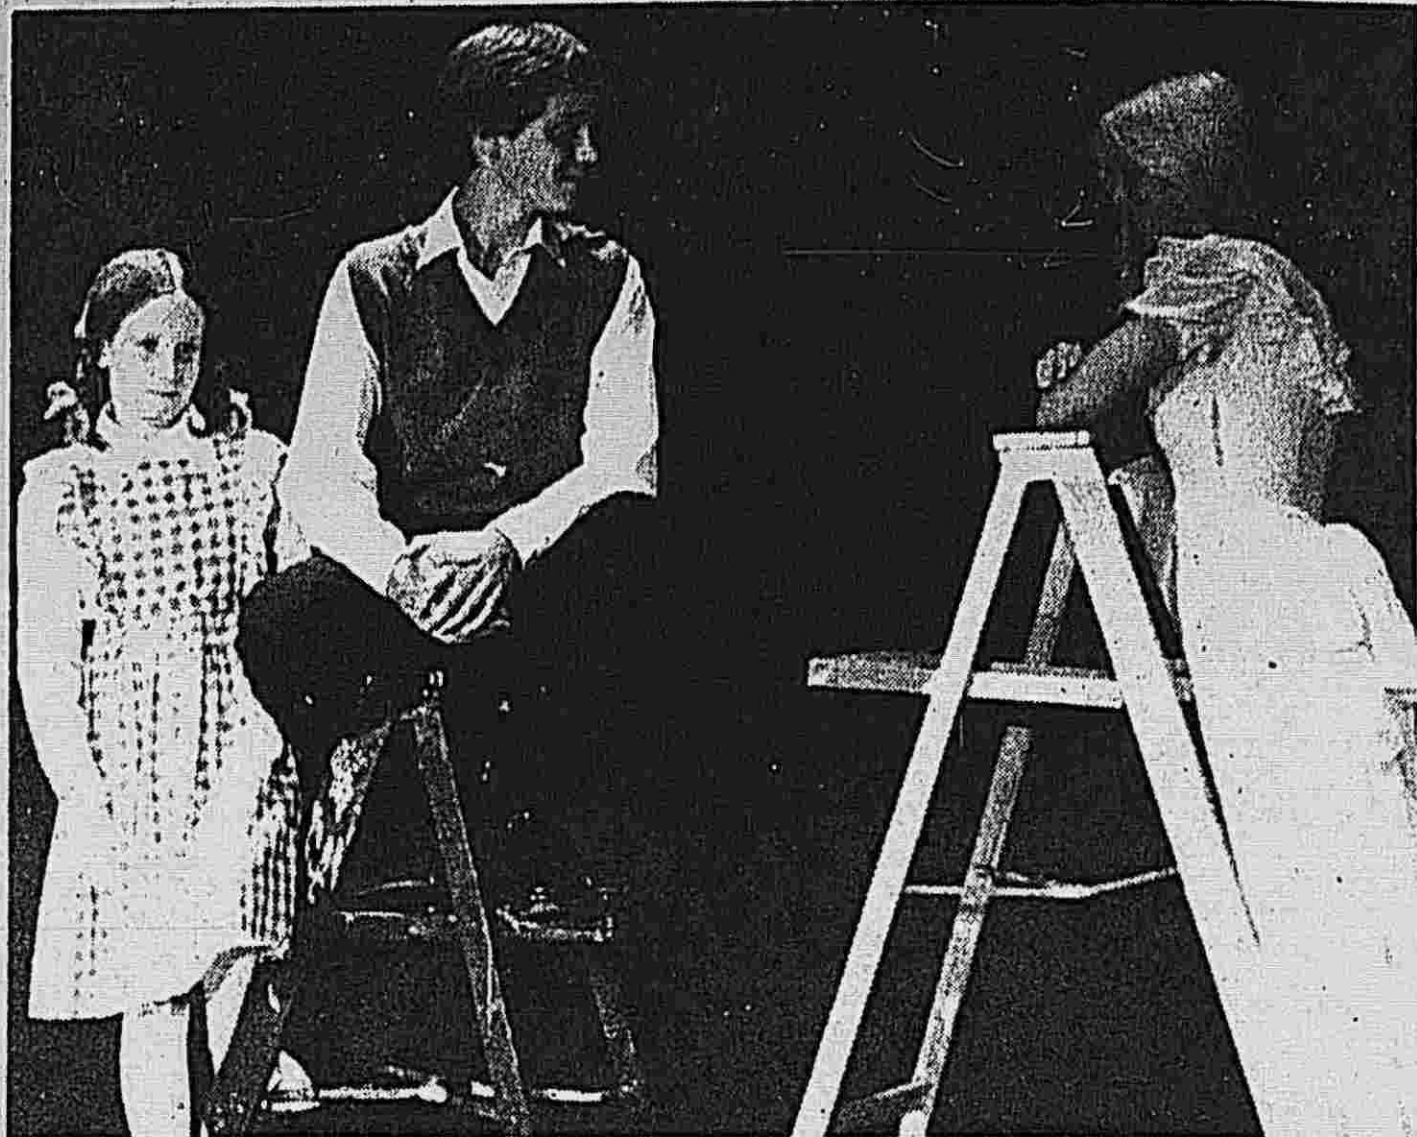

"Our Town" is not easy to describe because, as a Philadelphia critic has pointed out, "nothing that has been said about it can quite match the charm and simplicity revealed in this little drama."

The PM&L production is directed by Tom Hausman. Principal roles are played by Don Beveroth of Paddock Lake as the stage manager; Anthony Starke, Lindenhurst, as George Gibbs; Jeannie Lindgren, Antioch, Emily Webb; Mickey Mandel, Fox Lake, Mrs. Gibbs; Frank Greenwood, Round Lake, Dr. Gibbs; Yvonne Dyer, Antioch, Mrs. Webb; Lou Jones, Round Lake, Mr. Webb; and Bruce Stamm, Round Lake Beach, as Simon Stimson.

The large and talented cast also includes Joe and Ricky Apostol, Jane Hausman, George Blanksten, Dorie Hubbard, Pat Ser-shon, Pam Quint, Bill Seeman, Andrew, Aileen, and Jennifer Biel, Irene Hahn, Tracy T. Kiederlen, Alice and Rosemary Scheske, and Betty Smouse, from Antioch; Jim Bishop, Round Lake Park; Jason and Larry Bullman, Ingleside; Gerry Mandel, Bob Mallowney, and Pat Bast, Fox Lake; Steve Beno, Wildwood; Betty Beveroth, Paddock Lake; Dee Lewis, Grayslake; Lillian Allen, Trevor, Wis.; and Anne Marie Cina, McHenry.

"A remarkable experience in many ways, 'Our Town' will no doubt play to full houses, and you should not wait much longer to make your reservations to see this absorbing show," said a play spokesperson.

Anniversary

ROEGNERS 1920

Tillie and Bernard Roegner, Park Terrace, Antioch, will celebrate the 60th anniversary of their wedding on Sept. 20, with a Mass at St. Peter's Church followed by a reception for 50 relatives and friends at the Colony House, Trevor, Wis.

The Roegners were married in Marytown, Wis. in 1920 after they had postponed the wedding for a year because of the bride's illness.

Bernard worked for a brokerage house in Battle Creek, Mich. until they moved to Antioch in 1957 and soon afterwards, the man of the house officially retired in 1965.

Their union produced four children, one deceased, and 16 grandchildren.

In reminiscing, the Roegners laughingly recall that right after their wedding they went on a two week honeymoon to California that went on for 12 years and lasted through the births of three children.

And even though they are now in our fair village, it sure looks like the honeymoon has stretched into a 60 year one.

Fire Prevention contest

will include t-shirts, sandwiches from McDonald's and ice cream sundaes from White's.

A SPECIAL highlight of the week's activities will be the appearance of Sparky, who is a symbol of fire prevention.

His presence will be courtesy of the Antioch Savings and Loan Assn. through funds provided for the costume.

"It is the endeavor," states Quedenfeld "of the Fire Prevention Bureau to make the public and in particular, the students of our school systems, aware of the need for fire prevention; what to do in an emergency, information on careful planning such as how to call the fire department, rescue squad or the police department, practicing fire safety in the home, learning not to play with matches and, above all, a plan of escape from their home in case of fire."

He further states that during the week of Oct. 5 members of the Fire Prevention Bureau will be conducting some fire inspections of businesses in the fire district.

VISITS WILL be made to the various elementary grade schools and a special program of interest to the community will be conducted with the assistance of Antioch's

McDonald's.

Chief Todd Maplethorpe, in supporting the work of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Dept., states that the public should keep uppermost in their minds their own responsibility in providing a fire safe atmosphere in their homes, remembering that smoke detectors are the best system one can have for early warning of a fire's presence.

It is the most inexpensive fire policy for you and your family.

Maplethorpe also encouraged anyone in the Antioch area who has questions on fire prevention or fire safety to feel free to contact the department.

Survive an illness and bills will kill you

Survive an illness
by GLORIA DAVIS

I know that many people feel that the cost of being ill is enough to kill you or at least demolish any meager bank account that a very few are still able to maintain.

There is no question that hospital and physician charges are escalating daily and that the dull itemized statement received from a hospital's billing office often rivals one received from a long stay at a luxury hotel in total only, certainly not in the "having a good time, wish you were here category."

We all would like to see the cost of being sick made less sickening, but the near to "socialized medicine," ideas propagated by the Democratic party, Ted Kennedy advocating one and President Carter a similar one, is by far not the answer to the problem.

Although no one has really finally defined one of these "wonder plans," as I understand them they go something like this: a national health insurance plan wherein everyone would have medical insurance, benefit payments to be handled through government agencies who would possibly distribute the benefits or pay an intermediary to do so.

Now we all know that anytime a government agency is involved the cost of administration is liable to overshadow the amount of money dished out.

And since our taxes fund the government agencies, no matter how loudly election year politicians yell "tax cut," this could very well mean a large raise in our taxes and the end result might possibly be higher medical costs to the average American who is already proportionately carrying the brunt of the tax burden.

For example, right now most people have some kind of insurance or government assistance that presently picks up a portion of the medical tab.

Sometimes the individual pays all or a portion of the insurance premiums.

It is only logical that the addition of another high priced middle man, namely the U.S. government, is going to raise not lower medical costs to the average working man who is struggling to pay his already staggering monthly bills and record breaking tax assessments.

Who will then benefit from these Democratic "wonder plans?" The elderly and the poor?

As far as the elderly are concerned, Title 18, better known as Medicare, funded by the American taxpayer, already picks up a large portion of the senior citizen's medical bills and the balance can be picked up by other government agencies if the patient is unable to do so himself.

Under the "wonder plan" it is extremely feasible that elderly people who have too much money in the bank to qualify for Medicare would be able to have Mr. Average American Taxpayer foot a medical bill that he could well afford to pay himself.

Right now there are elderly people who having been involved in an accident, let Medicare, in other words you, foot a large portion of any medical expenses incurred and then keep the money collected from any insurance companies involved.

It is also possible that national health insurance might also encourage some people to run to the doctor or the emergency room of the local hospital for every little thing, things that really don't require professional attention.

This also would mean a rise in cost to the taxpayer for the increase in the use of the medical facilities.

There already is an abuse of the word emergency when it comes to the hospital emergency room, since many people feel that they can make use of these emergency services for every little ache and pain, things that should be normally attended to in the doctor's office.

This abuse is often prevalent in those on welfare or other government subsidies already paid for by us, so since the emergency room cannot turn them away we are paying for their care while we ourselves have to still foot our own medical bills and sit and wait in the doctor's office for two or three hours like everyone else.

Emergency rooms are just that, for use in immediate life threatening situations.

Two possible solutions to high medical costs would be to have hospitals specialize in certain high cost facilities should be in use 100 percent of the time.

For example if two hospitals in a given patient area are operating a kidney dialysis center, and with the patient split, each of these centers is only in use part of the time, the unpaid operational costs of running these departments should logically have to be amortized among all the patients entering each hospital.

Of course if one hospital gets all the patients with one particular ailment this would have to be equalized in another area or the loss of income might have needed hospitals closing their doors for lack of income.

The Health Systems Agencies are already implementing this plan although there have been instances where the equal apportionment of business has not been a factor.

Another cut in medical care is up to the doctors. I have all the respect in the world for most members of the medical profession, all of whom are overworked but very few underpaid.

In fact the day of the poor doctor has all but disappeared, at least in this part of the country.

Most doctors will not live long enough to spend all their money and yet when it comes to insurance covered, or agency aided patients, many, not all, doctors charge the maximum paid for particular ailments and if the insurance or the agency pays less than the charge for a particular service, instead of dropping the balance to the patient, the doctor's office keeps billing them for it whether or not the patient can afford to pay it.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

I can't wait for the Rotary's barbecue and auction at the Antioch Auction Center this Saturday because Dennis Johnson tells me that theirs will not be the hackneyed all antique auction, since the Rotary boys have a new outlook on this sort of thing.

They are going to feature many lovely antiques and also attractive new merchandise.

I hear they are going to have some tiffany lamps, pieces of brass and some special pieces of new furniture.

Looks like Don Walsh's luck isn't much better, at least politically, in Wisconsin. I read where he lost his first bid for political office, he was running for a seat in the Congress.

Although he lost by a narrow margin, guess who he lost to girls, one of us!

And more news for you art lovers, students of Wava Barnes will exhibit and sell their paintings from 1 to 4 p.m. this Sunday, at 760 Main St., across from the library.

If Jean Rockow seems to be smiling more than usual it's because she not only had a good vacation, made special by a visit from her son Dennis, and his family, that included a first look at her new granddaughter, but now her other son Jim and his wife Rene have presented the Rockows with their first grandson, Justin Jerome. That makes it four granddaughters and one grandson to add to the excitement of family holidays with the Rockow clan.

Streaks score big against Sequoits

Wapon says, "We put ourselves in a hole and gave up a touchdown early and then had fourth and one and didn't make it."

Wapon went on to say, "The Blue Streaks of Woodstock played a good game, but we also saw some improvement in our defense since we held them under 100 yards on the ground."

Woodstock scored first in the final non-conference game played by the Sequoits last Saturday, scoring after a 23 yard run with a little over six minutes remaining in the first quarter.

After holding the Blue Streaks on the 10 yard line, the Sequoits sank further behind as Woodstock made a field goal, extending their lead to 10-0.

Mike Kotlinski finally put some points on the score board for Antioch when he burst up the middle, broke several tackles at the line of scrimmage and sailed into the end zone for a 46 yard touchdown.

But then Antioch missed the point after touchdown, making the score 10-6.

Then it was Woodstocks turn and they took immediate advantage to make it 16-6 and almost did it again when the Sequoits fumbled on the 39 yard line but Antioch's Steve Wolf jumped on a Woodstock fumble at the Sequoits eight-yard line with just seconds left in the half.

Woodstocks scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter after Antioch again failed in their touchdown try, making the final score 23-6.

Although the Antioch Sequoits are winless in their first two times out this season, Coach Steve Wapon is hoping that the Sequoits get back into controlling the football in their contest against the unbeaten Warren Bulldogs, Saturday, Sept. 20.

In talking about last week's 23-6 defeat suffered at the hands of Woodstock, Laddie Korecek tells me that the Chamber of Commerce is really swinging along with their plans for a really special Antioch Christmas this year.

One that'll include such great traditional things as hayrides, choirs caroling, a residential decorating contest; a new house for Santa to spend the pre-Christmas week-ends in and performances of the Messiah.

Dennis Boehm, who designs and constructs leaded, beveled and stained glass windows will be exhibiting some of his fine works at the 1980 Greenwich Village Art Fair at the Burpee Art Museum in Rockford on Sept. 13 and 14.

Kathy Martin's mom and dad have asked me to wish her a very happy sweet sixteenth birthday. Hope she saves me a piece of birthday cake from that party they have planned for her.

Had a cup of coffee with Paul Maginot the other day and he was telling me about an interesting talk being given by Joe Dillman, a pharmacist at Condell Hospital.

Joe is delving into the very prevalent problem of the sale of street drugs and drug abuse at 7:30 p.m., on Wednesday, Oct. 8 at Antioch's Rescue Squad Building. Be there!

Congratulations to Barb Larson, who is being honored for her work as sales director of Mary Kay Cosmetics by getting the loan of a pink Buick Regal for two years.

In order to win this award Barb lead her sales unit to become one of the top sales units in the Mary Kay organization in the last six months.

PREVENTING SPORTS INJURIES

No one would think of playing tackle football without wearing shoulder pads and a helmet. Yet, far too many youngsters play contact sports, without wearing protection for their mouths. This results in all too many cases of split lips, broken, chipped and knocked out teeth. For example, fifty two per cent of all football injuries occur in unprotected faces and mouths.

The best way to prevent all this mouth damage, is to wear a mouth protector. Bars across football helmets don't do the same job. They don't protect teeth and jaws from an upward blow on the chin — only from a blow straight against the face. Dental injuries to football players wearing proper mouth protectors have been almost completely eliminated.

Most old-style

mouthguards, such as those we see boxers using, are not very easy to wear because they are bulky. Talking is just about impossible. Many players prefer to talk and be comfortable and risk the chance of injury rather than wear one. However, a modern mouthguard, made to an accurate model of a boy's mouth doesn't interfere with mouth breathing, stays in place when the mouth is opened, allows clear speech and is comfortable. Many sporting goods stores carry these inexpensive devices.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Pursuant to law public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted on a separate blue ballot to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 4, 1980.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 1, 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE IV

(Proposed changes in the existing Constitutional provision are indicated by underscoring all new matter and by crossing with a line all matter which is to be omitted.)

ARTICLE IV LEGISLATURE — POWER AND STRUCTURE

The legislative power is vested in a General Assembly consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives, elected by the electors from 59 Legislative Districts and 118 Representative Districts.

SECTION 2. LEGISLATIVE COMPOSITION

(a) One Senator shall be elected from each Legislative District. Immediately following each decennial redistricting, the General Assembly by law shall divide the Legislative Districts as equally as possible into three groups. Senators from one group shall be elected for terms of four years, four years and two years; Senators from the second group, for terms of four years, two years and four years; and Senators from the third group, for terms of two years, four years and four years. The Legislative Districts in each group shall be distributed substantially equally over the State.

(b) Each Legislative District shall be divided into two Representative Districts. In 1982 and every two years thereafter one Representative District shall be elected from each Representative District for a term of two years. Three Representatives shall be elected from each Legislative District for a term of two years. No political party shall limit its nominations to less than two candidates for Representative in any Legislative District. In elections for Representatives, including those for nomination, each elector may cast three votes for one candidate or distribute them equally among no more than three candidates. The candidates highest in votes shall be declared elected.

(c) To be eligible to serve as a member of the General Assembly, a person must be a United States citizen, at least 21 years old, and for the two years preceding his election or appointment a resident of the district which he is to represent. In the general election following a redistricting, a candidate for the General Assembly may be elected from any district which contains a part of the district in which he resided at the time of the redistricting and reelected if a resident of the new district he represents for 18 months prior to reelection.

(d) Within thirty days after a vacancy occurs, it shall be filled by appointment as provided by law. If the vacancy is in a Senatorial office with more than twenty-eight months remaining in the term, the appointed Senator shall serve until the next general election, at which time a Senator shall be elected to serve for the remainder of the term. If the vacancy is in a Representative office or in any other Senatorial office, the appointment shall be for the remainder of the term. An appointee to fill a vacancy shall be a member of the same political party as the person he succeeds.

(e) No member of the General Assembly shall receive compensation as a public officer or employee from any other governmental entity for time during which he is in attendance as a member of the General Assembly.

No member of the General Assembly during the term for which he was elected or appointed shall be appointed to a public office which shall have been created or the compensation for which shall have been increased by the General Assembly during that term.

SECTION 3. LEGISLATIVE REDISTRICTING

(a) Legislative Districts shall be compact, contiguous and substantially equal in population. Representative Districts shall be compact, contiguous, and substantially equal in population.

(b) In the year following each Federal decennial census year, the General Assembly by law shall redistrict the Legislative Districts and the Representative Districts.

If no redistricting plan becomes effective by June 30 of that year, a Legislative Redistricting Commission shall be constituted not later than July 10. The Commission shall consist of eight members, no more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party.

The Speaker and Minority Leader of the House of Representatives shall each appoint to the Commission one Representative and one person who is not a member of the General Assembly. The President and Minority Leader of the Senate shall each appoint to the Commission one Senator and one person who is not a member of the General Assembly.

The members shall be certified to the Secretary of State by the appointing authorities. A vacancy on the Commission shall be filled within five days by the authority that made the original appointment. A Chairman and Vice Chairman shall be chosen by a majority of all members of the Commission.

Not later than August 10, the Commission shall file with the Secretary of State a redistricting plan approved by at least five members.

If the Commission fails to file an approved redistricting plan, the Supreme Court shall submit the names of two persons, not of the same political party, to the Secretary of State not later than September 1.

Not later than September 5, the Secretary of State publicly shall draw by random selection the name of one of the two persons to serve as the ninth member of the Commission.

Not later than October 5, the Commission shall file with the Secretary of State a redistricting plan approved by at least five members.

An approved redistricting plan filed with the Secretary of State shall be presumed valid, shall have the force and effect of law and shall be published promptly by the Secretary of State.

The Supreme Court shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction over actions concerning redistricting the House and Senate, which shall be initiated in the name of the People of the State by the Attorney General.

TRANSITION SCHEDULE

This Amendment shall take effect the day following its passage and shall govern the Primaries and the General Election to be held in 1982 and thereafter.

FORM OF BALLOT

Two people tied in predicting the point spread between Antioch and Woodstock in last week-end's football game. But the tie breaking Bear-New Orleans game gave first prize to Laura Stewart, Fillweber Ct.

Stewart wins a $15 savings account at the State Bank of Antioch. That left the second prize of a $10 gift certificate from the Yellow Brick Road to Mary Furlan, Lake Ct. Dee Lang was the next closest and walked away with the third prize of a $5 gift certificate from Antioch Auto Parts. None of last week's winners have claimed their prizes. Again, first prize was won by Don Skidmore, second prize by Winifred Braddock and third prize went to Dawn Quedenfield.
